Dear Senate Rules Committee:

The LORA response was due on December 17, 2024. It is no surprise to me that I have not received a written response.

It is no surprise to me that Erika Contreras has not returned either of my phone call. After all, she has never once returned a call in the 15-months that I have been calling. And then she had the audacity to send me a letter saying not to contact anyone but her. Ms. Contreras, that letter was unconscionable.

It is also no surprise to me that John Nam hasn't returned either of my phone call, either.

I also left a message for Ms. Braverman and Ms. Cervinka yesterday. I received no call back from them. Like Ms. Contreras, they have not returned calls to me in many months.

*You are public servants and the constituents are your employers. It is unconscionable that you treat your constituents/employers this way.

Hopefully, by now you understand that this strategy of ignoring me is not going to work. I am not going to give up and go away. My army and I are going to hold all of you accountable to following the laws as they are written.

Please provide my LORA response TODAY. Or, if nothing else, return my phone calls.

Regards,

Christine Grab

Subject: New LORA Request

Hello State Senate:

New oaths for the 2025 - 2026 legislative cycle were supposed to be administered yesterday. Likewise, new surety bonds were to be procured yesterday.

I request the following:

1. All pages of all standard operating procedure manuals utilized by the State Senate that address oaths and/or surety bonds, including (but not limited to) the protocols for the process of identifying which oath type is given to which employees (oath of office vs oath of allegiance), administration of oaths, filing of oaths of office with the Secretary of State, procurement of bonds, filing of bonds with the Secretary of State, etc.

2. Unredacted copies of current oaths and surety bonds for the following people:

Andrews, Michelle
Barnett, Alex
Blakespear, Catherine
Braverman, Sheila
Brown, Samantha
